Honorary Degrees

Jerome F. Wartgow, former superintendent of Denver Public Schools

Honorary Doctor of Public Service

Dr. Jerry Wartgow has over forty years of experience working at all levels of education, including nearly thirty years as the President/Chief Executive Officer of large, complex educational institutions and organizations. Most recently he served as Superintendent of Denver Public Schools, a position from which he retired in August 2005. During his four year tenure as superintendent, student achievement increased and DPS experienced a surge of momentum and a renewed bond with Denver's many neighborhoods and communities. Working collaboratively with students, teachers, parents and a wide range of community-based, higher education, and business and philanthropic partners, DPS established a winning track record for reform and success. Of the twenty-one DPS schools that received an unsatisfactory rating on the State Accountability Report in the fall of 2001, all but one had moved off that rating two years later. The District twice won the Governor's award for the most improved school district in Colorado (2002 and 2003), and the Colorado Charter School Association named DPS as Colorado's "Most Charter Friendly District" in 2003.

During his tenure as Superintendent, Denver voters passed the largest bond and mill levy elections in the District's history, by the largest margins in recorded history. As a result, DPS has seen a renaissance of the arts in the schools, education opportunities for preschoolers broadened, and revitalization efforts launched in dozens of schools. During this same period, DPS also developed and adopted, in cooperation with its teachers union, a revolutionary new teacher compensation system, called ProComp. ProComp sets aside the traditional teacher salary schedule that is based on automatic seniority-based raises, and replaces it with a system wherein salaries are based on ten elements, including teachers' contributions to student growth, and service in the most challenging schools and hard to fill program areas.

Dr. Wartgow is also President Emeritus of the Colorado Community College System, where he served as its founding president from 1986-1998 and transformed a loose federation of community colleges into Colorado's largest and fastest growing education system. He has also served as Executive Director of the Auraria Higher Education Center in Denver and Deputy Executive Director of the Colorado Commission on Higher Education. He has been a university professor and served three years as Dean of Students at the International School of Bangkok in Thailand.

Dr. Wartgow earned his Doctor of Philosophy degree at the University of Denver, a Master's Degree at the University of Hawaii, and a Bachelor of Science Degree at the University of Wisconsin-Superior. He has done postdoctoral study at Harvard University and was granted a fellowship at the East-West Center in Honolulu, where he focused on emerging education issues and policies in Asia and the Pacific Rim. He recently returned from a residency at the Rockefeller Foundation study center in Bellagio, Italy, where he was invited to work on a manuscript for his forthcoming book that is titled Why School Reform is Failing: Ten Lessons from the Trenches.

Dr. Wartgow has an extensive record of community service, having served in such diverse roles as chair of the Colorado Council on the Arts and as a member of the Boards of Directors of the Denver Zoo; the Denver Chamber of Commerce; Junior Achievement; the Public Education and Business Coalition; the Colorado Educational and Cultural Facilities Authority; and the Education Foundation. He is currently a member of the Board of Directors of the Western Governor's University; GreatSchools, Inc.; Common Good Colorado; and ScholarCentric.

Dr. Wartgow and his wife, Diane, live on Lookout Mountain in the Denver foothills. They have two grown sons and two grandsons.

Thomas F. Marsico, chairman and CEO of Marsico Capital Management

Honorary Doctor of Higher Education

Thomas F. Marsico is the Chairman, Chief Executive Officer, and Portfolio Manager of Marsico Capital Management, LLC, the $90 billion asset management firm he founded in 1997. Tom sets MCM's overall research and investment strategy, and is the portfolio manager of the Marsico Focus Fund and the Marsico Growth Fund. He has over 20 years experience in money management. Tom's extensive background in rigorous securities analysis led him to recruit and train MCM's multitalented investment team.

A Denver native, Tom earned an undergraduate degree in biology from the University of Colorado at Boulder in 1977 and an MBA in finance from DU in 1979. He is married to Cydney Marsico (BSBA, 1978; MBA, 1980) who serves as president of the Denver-based CTM Foundation, a family foundation that focuses on issues affecting women and children.

Made possible by a $10 million gift from Tom and Cydney to DU, the Marsico Initiative is designed to enhance academic intensity and excellence in the undergraduate arts and sciences curriculum. To date, the Marsico Initiative has funded mentoring opportunities for first-years students; a writing and research center for undergraduates; greater experiential learning opportunities; a numerical literacy program that helps students learn to "read math" in the context of their majors; and fund visiting scholars. While the Marsico Initiative focuses primarily on the disciplines of the arts and sciences, all traditional undergraduate students are affected. The decision of Tom and Cydney to invest their gift in the arts and sciences was deliberate since all DU students, regardless of major, take courses in these disciplines.

Academic Regalia

The Chancellor's Regalia

The Chancellor's regalia, worn at official university functions, is black, crimson and gold. Four velvet chevrons adorn each sleeve, signaling that the gown belongs to a chancellor or president. Two gold University of Denver seals are embroidered on the front of the gown. The chancellor's hood is dark blue, recognizing his PhD in chemistry. It is lined in blue and gold, denoting the colors of his alma mater, the University of California at Berkeley.

The University Mace

A mace was originally a heavy staff or club made entirely of metal with a metal head. It was often spiked and used as a weapon of war. Later it became a scepter of office resembling the original weapon in shape, borne before officials on ceremonial occasions. The University of Denver has a mace, designed by Colorado silversmith Connie Brauer. The three-foot-long mace is of sterling silver with some gold plating and incorporates minerals native to the state.

Near the crown of the mace are 12 flat areas that alternate six Colorado gemstones with six symbols of the University. The gemstones are aquamarine (the state stone), rhodochrosite, citrine, blue topaz, rose quartz, and heliodor beryl. The symbols are the Rocky Mountain Region and Denver; an original Colorado Seminary shield; the lamp, representing undergraduate education; the torch, representing graduate and professional education; the seal of the University; and a symbol of the world. Fashioned in opalescent enamel, the symbols on the mace represent the source of this institution, from the Rockies to the world.

The mace was first used in the inauguration of Chancellor Emeritus Daniel L. Ritchie on April 5, 1990.

The University Medallion

The University of Denver medallion is worn by the chancellor for official academic functions. Presented to the University by Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity in the centennial year, the silver and gold medallion incorporates the University seal and motto and four jewels on the electron orbits. The medallion is suspended by a massive silver chain that bears the names of the 17 chancellors of the University. The medallion symbolizes the degree-granting power of the University and the authority of the chancellor as the chief administrator of the University.

The Seal

Designed in 1949 by Frank L. Phillips, a DU instructor in art and a commercial artist. It contains a likeness of Mt. Evans, named after the University's founder John Evans and the University's original Colorado Territory charter name, Colorado Seminary, required for official transactions.

The Academic Procession and Regalia

The pageantry and dress of the academic procession have been inherited from the medieval universities of the 11th and 12th centuries where academic life began, first in the church then in the guilds. The teaching guild was the guild of the Master of Arts. The Bachelor was the apprentice of the Master, and the dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibilities.

Principal features of academic dress are the gown, the cap, and the hood. Early it became necessary for universities to set rules to preserve the dignity and the meaning of the academic dress. Two English universities, Oxford and Cambridge, are particularly noted for the development of the authentic academic costume, which has changed only slightly through the centuries.

Formal academic attire for American campuses was established in 1895 with the adoption of the Intercollegiate Code, which prescribed the patterns, colors, and materials for each part of the regalia for the bachelor's, master's, and doctoral levels. In 1932, the American Council of Education presented a revised code that generally governs the style of academic dress today.

The Gown

The flowing gown originated in the 12th century. While it originally may have been worn as protection against the chill of unheated buildings, today it has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it covers any dress of rank or social standing underneath. Gowns vary in the trimming and the design of the sleeves. The doctoral gown has velvet facings down the front and three velvet chevrons on the bell-shaped sleeves. These velvet trimmings may be black or the prescribed color of the academic area. The master's gown has oblong sleeves while the bachelor's gown has long pointed sleeves. Neither has trimming. The bachelor's gown is always worn closed; the master's and doctoral gown may be worn open or closed.

The Cap

When Roman law freed a slave, he won the privilege of wearing a cap. The academic cap is a sign of freedom of scholarship as well as responsibility and dignity. Old poetry records the cap of scholarship as square to symbolize the book. The color of the tassel denotes the discipline. The square black mortarboard is the recommended cap, although some schools have adopted other styles. Doctors may wear a velvet cap with a gold tassel.

The Hood

The hood identifies the level of the degree, the school that granted it, and the academic area. The silk lining of the hood is the color or colors of the school. The color of the facing denotes the discipline represented by the degree.

University of Denver Alma Mater

Lyrics by Allen Beck, Ingrid Hansen Thompson and Stephen Thompson;
Music by Robert Penn

Upon the plains 'neath mountains' height
They built our Denver U:
With grateful hearts we all delight
In a vision old and new;
So let us join with those before,
The future to unfold;
We'll glorify forevermore
The Crimson and the Gold.

To spread the light of truth they came,
Those hardy pioneers;
Young men and women bore the flame
That enlightens through the years.
They sought a world unlike the old,
Those men and women strong;
Near crimson hillside touched with gold,
They found a place ere long.
